OREGON.

Seven cents a head is the ruling price for shearing sheep in Eastern Oregon.

The stages now run daily from Kelton to Umatilla, the epizootic having about disappeared from the line.

The town of Pendleton boasts of the champion female foot racer—age eighteen, weight 123 pounds.

John T Hinton, a resident of Upper Willow Creek, Umatilla county, had his leg badly broken, on the 10th inst., by a kick of a horse.

The Spiritualists of Oregon will hold their annual Grove meeting at Woodburn, Marion county, commencing June 6th. It will continue three days.

On the 10th inst, Thos. Eaton attempted to ford Wallowa river near Smith's Bridge, when near the middle of the stream his wagon capsized. The wagon and valuable load was lost and Mr. Eaton barely escaped drowning.

J. Quinn Thornton's lecture on Salem land titles will probably be published in pamphlet form. It will be interesting to the real estate owners there, but likely dry reading for the general public.

From a gentleman who just returned from a tour in Washington county, we learn that much of the fall sown wheat is nearly waist high. The spring crops are also in splendid growing condition and will yield well, without any more rain before harvest. The fruit trees are all full of young fruit, and the aggregate yield will be enormous. Farmers are greatly elated over the prospects.

We are informed that Charles McKay, well known in Portland, in fact all over Oregon and in many other places, died at his residence at Glencoe, Washington county, last Tuesday night. He was an old pioneer, coming to Oregon about 40 years ago as a trapper in the employ of the Hudson Bay Company. He was a Scotchman by birth, and possessed the national traits of that people, many of which are found in the composition of every good man. His death was sudden, and many will miss "Old Charlie McKay," as he was familiarly known, from the walks of men. May he rest in peace.

The La Grande Sentinel of the 24th inst., says: "On Saturday last six Indians visited the residence of Masterson, on Rock creek about 14 miles from Willow creek and 30 or 40 miles from Umatilla landing, in the absence of the husband and father. They first proceeded to fill the mouths of the two children with dirt, probably to prevent them from making an outcry, and then attempted to ravish the lone wife and mother. But Providence ordered it otherwise, and before the vile crime could be accomplished the husband returned, and the Indians fled. Mr. Masterson fearing to remain at his home with his family, repaired to Umatilla, where they probably now are. This information we get from Col. H. C. Paige, and have full confidence in its truthfulness."

St. Peter's Church is the name of a Parish of the Episcopal Church just organized in La Grande by Bishop Morris. The Vestry so appointed are Messrs. S. M. Black, J. H. Stevens, Jos. Shambaugh, S. Ellsworth, J. H. Missner, J. L. Curtis and S. G. French. Messrs. Black and Stevens were elected Wardens, Mr. Jos. Shambaugh, Treasurer, and Mr. J. H. Missner, Clerk. The Building Committee are Messrs. Ellsworth, Shambaugh, Missner and Curtis. Mr. Daniel Chaplin has given two lots, very eligibly situated in the lower part of the town, near Main street, and the building fund amounts now to $2,000. Five hundred dollars of this are given by Bishop Morris, and the remainder was subscribed by citizens in a few hours, while the Bishop and Rev. L. H. Wells were there. Bishop Morris confirmed 25 persons in La Grande, 2 at the Cove, 3 at Union and one at Baker City. St. Peter's Parish starts with 35 communicants, and an earnest and zealous spirit that promises well for the future.

THE TERRITORIES.

The market price of wheat at Olympia, as given by the Courier, is $1 16 per bushel.

The Northwestern Stage Company have resumed daily trips between Walla Walla and the railroad.

The census roll gives Whitman county, W. T, about one thousand inhabitants, with a taxable property of $300,000.

About 1,000 Indians, from Wisconsin, were lately removed to the Indian Territory. They are of the Winnebago persuasion.

The grand jurymen at Walla Walla, report that they are satisfied that the Indians drink a great deal of whisky, but cannot tell where they get it.

The mill and ranch at Spokane, W. T., has been purchased by two former citizens of Marion county in this State, Messrs. Glover and Matheny.

Immigrants from the East are daily arriving in Walla Walla valley, and there is promise of quite an addition to the population of that valley this summer.

The Chinaman Sung Yow, convicted of murder at Walla Walla, was sentenced to be hanged on the 11th day of July next. He is the first man convicted of murder in the first degree in Walla Walla county.

Notwithstanding the reported suspension of the Olympia Courier, its issue of the 27th inst. came to hand as lively as ever, announcing that a change has taken place in its proprietorship, and that "from and after this date it will be placed on a more solid foundation than ever, and will continue to be, as it has been hitherto, the best and cheapest newspaper in this Territory."

Three persons were tried for gambling at Walla Walla last week, each convicted and fined $50. Julius Kamanski was tried for housebreaking and acquitted. The Union says the evidence was clear, but the jury couldn't get over the instruction of the Court, which was to the effect that unless the burglar knew there were $30 in the house before he broke it, he could not be convicted.

At Walla Walla the epizooty is abating; the spring clip of the wool crop which is coming into market, is larger than ever before; Captain Hopkins has arrived and will soon take charge of the Garrison; the best reports of crops of grain come in from all parts of the valley, the Indian scare is like the epizooty, subsiding, and money is scarce, but everybody is comparatively happy.

A letter in the Union says: The Indian scare has not produced much excitement up to this time, but thinking prudence in all things the safest course to pursue, the citizens of Whitman county met at Colfax, May 6th, and organized two companies, numbering in all 120 men. Company A elected J M Nosler, Captain; P D Bunnell, First Lieut; C. B. King, Second Lieut; W. A. Belcher, First Sergeant. Company B, James Ewart, Captain; A Elsroth, First Lieut; J Odel, Second Lieut; C D Porter, First Sergt. It is hoped that they may be like old maids, always ready but never wanted.

"I was obliged," says Mr Ruskin, "to write too young, when I knew only half-truths and was eager to set them forth by what I thought fine words. People used to call me a good writer then, now they say I can't write at all, because, for instance, if I think anybody's house is on fire, I only say, 'Sir, your house is on fire,' whereas formerly I use to say, 'Sir, the abode in which you probably passed the delightful days of youth is in a state of inflammation,' and everybody used to like the effect of the two p's in probably passed,' and of the two d's in 'delightful days.'"

EASTERN DATES TO MAY 28.

WASHINGTON CITY.

A Remarkable Statement of International Law

WASHINGTON, May 28.—A special says the Administration is at last willing to admit that Col McKenzie did not pursue the Kickapoos into Mexico without instructions from Washington. The President is made to say that if Mexico is to be made the asylum for highway robberies after the United States protests, we do not intend to sanction it, and if the Mexican Government complains, this Administration has resolved to treat the accessory as guilty as the principal.

Col McKenzie has received orders to exterminate the Kickapoos and Lipans.

Murderer Hanged.

Levi Foules was hanged yesterday in the Marion Court House, South Carolina, for the murder of Noah Sutton, on the 10th of February last.

EASTERN STATES.

Woman Suffrage in Massachusetts.

BOSTON, May 27.—The fourth annual gathering of the New England Woman Suffrage Association in Tremont Temple attracts less attention than usual. Julia Ward Howe presides. The speakers include O. Stearns in the course. The Massachusetts Legislature was vigorously denounced for its recent vote giving woman suffrage advocates leave to withdraw their petition.

Miscellaneous.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Postmaster General Creswell has concluded to abandon his contemplated trip to California. The duties of his position are so arduous that he does not expect to be absent from the city for any prolonged period during the recess.

Owing to the shipping law, the ship Herald of the Morning, for San Francisco, has been waiting since Saturday for a crew.

The boss carpenters met to-night, but failed to agree on any concerted plan of action. It was reported at the meeting that three of the principal employers had yielded to the demands of men for eight hours work a day.

Funeral of Paymaster Meade.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The funeral of the late Paymaster Meade, United States Navy, who died at Mare Island, California, took place this afternoon, and was largely attended by officers of the navy, members of the Masonic Fraternity and relations. The body was taken to Greenwood Cemetery.

Convention of Insane Association.

BALTIMORE, May 27.—The Association of Medical Superintendents of the American Institution for Insane met, to-day in convention. Forty-three members were present, representing 41 institutions. Dr. J. S. Butler presided.

Accident.

LANCASTER, May 27.—At Guild Hall, on Connecticut river six miles from here, this afternoon, five men in a boat attempted to pass over the rapids when the boat capsized. Three escaped and the two others, Otis and Perle were drowned.

Served him Right.

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—John B. Gallagher, Alderman, was to-day convicted of extorting an illegal fee, and was fined $100 and sentenced to nine months imprisonment.

Miscellaneous.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The body of James L. Orr, late Minister to Russia, will lie in state in this city before it is taken to South Carolina for interment.

How a Burglar was Captured.

NEW YORK, May 28.—Jim Brady, a notorious burglar, was arrested yesterday. He jumped out of a second story window of Nox's building on Sixth avenue, where he had been attempting to negotiate what are supposed to be stolen bonds. Five shots were fired after him. Jacob Benson, a resident of Sixth avenue, was hit in the leg. Brady ran into the [illegible] of No. 300 [illegible] street, where he was captured. The gentleman who occupies the premises picked up $190,000 in U. S. bonds, which Brady threw away while passing through the basement. The police are of the opinion that most of the bonds were stolen from the body of Capt. Colvocoresses, who was found dead in a field near Bridgeport, Conn., a year ago, having died from a pistol shot wound in the head. The manner of the death of Capt. Colvocoresses was in doubt, it not being clear whether he was murdered or committed suicide. A few days before his death the friends of the Captain knew that he had in his possession bonds for $60,000. These were not found on his body and they have not since been discovered. Mrs. Gates of 531 Broadway called at Police Headquarters, and stated she had a brother named Daniel Gate, whose bonds were stolen from the First National Bank at Glenfalls, some three years ago. She thinks those found on Brady were a portion of these. Also Elmore Platt, A. W. Black and Hall B. Baldwin, whose bonds were stolen, resided at Glenfalls at the time of the bank robbery of $1,800,000 in bonds. This is the first clue to them. The Cashier of the bank has been telegraphed to identify the bonds. It is now believed that the bonds found on Brady last night were proceeds of the robbery of the First National Bank of Glenfalls.

Dutch Heinrich, a notorious bank robber, has been ordered to the Tombs from the lunatic asylum, Ward's Island, on the ground that he is feigning insanity.

Fires

NEW ORLEANS, May 18.—A dispatch from West's station announces the burning of the business portion of Vaiden, Miss, at 10 o'clock this morning; Loss, $75,000. Insurance, $35,000.

WHEELING, W. V, May 28.—A fire broke out last night about 11 o'clock, destroying the drying house attached to Kline's keg factory at Martin's Ferry, opposite this city.

Train Again.

NEW YORK, May 28.—Judge Fancher has given an order for an investigation into the sanity of George Francis Train.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

From Paris.

PARIS, May 27.—Ex-President Thiers took his seat in the Assembly to-day

Prince Pierre Bonaparte is in Paris.

From Berlin.

BERLIN, May 27.—Paris correspondents of the German press assert that the movement for the removal of Thiers originated in Rome and Florence.

From Madrid.

MADRID, May 27.—Captain-General Pieltain has been officially notified to carry into effect the order of March 24th, directing the emancipation of 10,000 slaves.

MADRID, May 28.—The Government army in the north, commanded by General Nouvilles, has received reinforcements, and marched for Olaf in pursuit of the Carlist force under Tristany. The Carlists are blockaded in the town, the Insurgents having cut the canal which furnished it with water power.

Pius IX Speaks.

ROME, May 27.—The Pope in a speech yesterday declared that he had prayed for France, but he would now pray with greater confidence, for the election of Marshal McMahon to the head of that country was a guarantee of order and justice to a civilization which was menaced on all sides.

The Chamber of Deputies has finally passed a bill for the abolition of religious corporations.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, May 20.—The pioneer party of Oriental Topographical corps from New York, engaged in the explorations of Bible lakes, have gone from Egypt, to Syria and Asia Minor. A photograph of the Nilometer, devised by one of the corps, has been taken. This, it is claimed, will definitely settle the vexed cubit question plan for rapidly taking the altitude of ruins, pyramids, etc. It works admirably.

The Run for the "Derby."

LONDON, May 28.—The annual summer meeting at Epsom commenced to-day. The great run of the year—the run for the Derby stakes—is to take place.

LATER—The race for the Derby was won by Doncaster—Kaiser second and Gang Forward third. The run for the second place in the race for Derby stakes was a dead heat between Gang Forward and Kaiser.

NOVA SCOTIA.

From Halifax!

HALIFAX, May 27.—The Prince Edward's Island Legislature yesterday unanimously passed resolutions accepting the terms of union.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

ST JOHNS, May 28.—The Government has notified the New York, Newfoundland and London Telegraph Company that they will abandon their pre-emptive right if the Company will abandon their monopoly of landing cables on Newfoundland shores, if not, they will exercise the pre-emption right.

ARIZONA.

SAN DIEGO, May 27.—Special Tucson dates to the 22d say that the latest advices from Sonora are to the effect that all is quiet, except those Apaches who got back into their Arizona reservation too quick to be captured. Sonora has for a year shown a disposition to be neighborly. There has been few depredations by outlaws. As an instance the writer mentions the fact of the recent desertion of soldiers from Camp Lowell, taking Government horses and guns to Sonora. The Prefect of Magdalena took their guns and horses from them, and sent them back to Tucson with a letter to Gov. Safford. No charge for trouble would be accepted.

The Apaches raided into San Pedro last week and took a band of horses. They divided the plunder and then scattered to their different reserves. This is the old game.

Gen. Crook has placed Maj. F. W. H. Brown in command of Camp Grant. Maj. Brown is a good Indian fighter. He has ordered on the trail to follow up each red skin to his wigwam.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—The match has been made between Jerome and Kline for a race to come off at Oakland early in June.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—A man named Blake fell from a street car on Powell street to-day, and broke his neck. The Coroner has sent for the body.

The weather is clear and cold, streets dusty.

Gov. Booth has appointed Thos D Mathewson State Harbor Commissioner vice John Rosenfeld, resigned.

There was great excitement over an alarm of fire in the Merchant's Exchange building. A great volume of smoke appeared on the roof. It was found to come from a foul chimney.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Henry Blake was the name of the man who fell from the car to-day.

The military authorities have failed to award the contract for constructing the telegraph line from San Diego to Prescott, as the appropriation is not enough to cover the cost of the work.

The case of Lizzie Gannon, who shot at C. F. McDermott, has been again postponed.

Opposition is lively amongst sugar refineries, and there is a consequent material reduction in the price of sugar.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—The detectives have thus far failed to find any clue to the burglars who broke open Bowen Bro.'s safe for one thousand dollars.

The Palmyra made the voyage from Liverpool in 111 days, one of the quickest trips recorded in a long time.

The Lord of Isles is still in quarantine.

Some rascals have been mutilating the books and papers in the Hall records. At a late hour of the night last Friday two men were seen coming out of the hall and it is supposed they were the guilty parties.

Sheriff Adams is again overrun with applications for admission to witness the execution of Chas. A. Russell.

It is stated that over 20,000 names have been signed to the anti-Chinese petitions which have been circulated for several weeks past.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—The following are the dispatches sent by the heads of the Chinese companies to Hongkong:

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27, 1873.—To Tong Woh, Ee Tuen, Chinese Hospital, Hongkong.

Stop all passengers. There is no more work here, no food, no dwellings. Many sufferers.

(Signed) CHINESE MERCHANTS EXCHANGE.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—To Tang Woh, Health Hospital, Hongkong:

Inform Chinese emigrants that they must not come. Very important. Great deal of trouble here. Much information; telegraph impossible. Publish this fact in Chinese newspapers. Will send letters and notices next week. Answer.

(Signed) SIX COMPANIES,
San Francisco.

Tell Chief Crowley that in less than a month two-thirds of the Chinamen recently arrived will go back.

INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES.

PLEASANTON, May 28.—J. W Colby, section man, was seriously if not fatally injured this morning. While running a hand-car he let the lever go, which struck him in the head and paralyzed his whole body.

LOS ANGELES, May 28.—The breakwater at San Pedro, though little over half completed, fully demonstrates the correctness of the engineering plans, the currents thus headed off by the structure sweeping out at the bar. The steamer Gypsey, dragging eight feet four inches, crossed the bar within an hour and a quarter at high tide. At the present rate, in a few months all that ingenuity and skill has predicted will be achieved.

SAN JOSE, May 28.—In a raid made on a Chinese gambling den this afternoon by Sheriff Adams, 23 Chinese were arrested. Some of the men engaged in the riot of Monday were among the number, having given bail for the former offense.

COLUSA, May 28.—Harvesting has commenced. Crops are turning out better than expected. Many who commenced cutting grass for hay found it to be too heavy, and are now harvesting with a yield of twenty bushels. A heavy shower has passed through the country to-day, helping the late crops.

STOCKTON, May 28.—This morning about 4 o'clock a fire was discovered in the engine room of the laundry building of the Insane Asylum. The fire department was promptly on hand and the fire confined to the engine room and wood shed. Total loss about $2,000.

Subscriptions toward building the San Joaquin and Tulare Narrow Gauge Railroad are rolling in. To-day Capt. Webber subscribed $25,000. Surveyors will reach Visalia within two weeks. Grading will commence at once.

YREKA, May 28.—Hon. J. K. Luttrell writes from Fort Jones, under date of 28th inst, as follows: "I observe in the telegraphic reports to the Chronicle, that Hamburg John, chief of the Olitiwa or Scott Valley and Klamath River tribe, refuse to come to the Reservation. Such is not the case, as John reported at the Reservation on Monday. His tribe of one hundred and ten, all agree to report at the Reservation. I have located their camp in Quartz Valley, a few miles south of the Reservation, where wood and water is more convenient. The Shastas, are here on the Reservation. The total number reported at the Reservation is one hundred and fifty. No arrangement has as yet been made to feed them. I have furnished them flour at my own expense, and will do so until I can get the Committee together next week."

It has been very cold and stormy to-day. The mountains are white with snow quite low down this morning, and considerable hail fell at one time this afternoon.

NEVADA.

AUSTIN, May 28.—Sheriff Caldwell, of Nye county, accompanied by Mr. McKenn, started from Belmont, Sunday night, after the murderers of Wright and Sanbourn. They think they have a clue to the perpetrators of the deed, and hope to succeed in effecting their arrest.

Plain Talk from Senator Carpenter.

NEW ORLEANS, May 20.—Despite the terrible weather and flooded streets, about 2,000 people, of all shades and parties, assembled in Exposition Hall to hear the address of Hon. Matt. Carpenter. The Senator pronounced an interchange of sentiment conducive to the harmony of both sections. He said:

The people of the South must take to their hearts the fact of the abolition of slavery and the raising of the negroes to equality, and let the fact bear fruit in their lives. Slavery is the dominion of one race over another; and does that exist here? I know it does not in your mouths, but I feel convinced that in some definite manner it exists as it did twenty years ago. I was interviewed yesterday by a large number of colored men, and learned that there was a fear of the white man, indefinite, yet existing. They said they wanted protection. They are protected as much as I. They are under the same laws, and they should not telegraph to Grant, but as individual citizens stand up for their rights. They are as much protected as I am or any one. It is believed at the North that a great many Southern men, young men, instead of leading the colored men by the hand to mutually benefit each other, loaf around whisky shops all day, and employ themselves at night in shooting at negroes for pleasure. You know when a man is compelled to do a thing he does not do it with a good grace, and may be, gentlemen, this is the way with this people. The colored man has civil rights, and let me tell you, gentlemen, nothing will ever prevent him from having them. Let the old issues die; never mind them, but accept the new ones, and carry them out."

Carpenter advised the division of the large plantations, and closed by saying: "Now, gentlemen, you have soil, climate, everything to back you, and the question is, are you going to sit still and see everything slipping away or are you going to rise up, be enterprising, help yourself and be great?" He then devoted himself to a review of local political affairs, declaring that "if the election really elected anybody, McEnery was elected Governor. If the returns were truthful, McEnery was elected, but as the case was presented to the United States Senate, we were satisfied that the election was not fairly held. The question then was, What could be done? Kellogg was not elected at all. McEnery was elected, if at all, by a fraud. It then seemed to us that there had been no election, and we knew not how to settle the question; we therefore said the only way to do it was to send it to the people and have a new election. Now to my colored friends. They are, they say, afraid to vote. If they are afraid from cause, then a Government will have to be furnished which will allow them to vote. If the Kellogg Government cannot show that the election returns were fraudulent, I believe that Congress will order a new election and put him out. [Applause.] What you must do in the meantime is this. The President must see that the laws are executed. He must, under the decree of the United States Court, support the Kellogg Government, and you cannot help yourselves. That Durell's conduct was outrageous, I have not a doubt [applause], but General Grant must support him under the law until Congress settles the matter. But you must keep the peace until this outrageous conduct of Durell's is set aside. It is not Kellogg that governs the State. It is not Grant, but the laws, and you must submit. Congress will doubtless correct it, and I pray you, gentlemen, for God's sake, do not injure your cause by any disturbance, and I feel convinced you will be set right in your trades and commercial enterprises."

Men who have little claim on a pastor's time are instant in season and out of season, in their calls. Some never know when to go. They would hang around the whole forenoon if not peremptorily dismissed. Such men, as Dr. Hall, of Holy Trinity, puts it, have their 'sitting breeches on when they call.'"

LATEST FROM THE FRONT!

From the California Indian War.

FAIRCHILD'S RANCH, May 27.—"F" and "H" troops of the First Cavalry, under command of Col. Perry, will leave to-morrow morning for the Pitt river country to intercept Jack, should he escape from Clear Lake, and also to find out the status of the Indians in that region. There are about 20 Warm Spring Indians attached to Col Perry's command.

More Trophies.

MAY 27—11 A. M.—One warrior, one squaw and four children have just come in and given themselves up to Gen. Wheaton. These prisoners were brought in by Tom and Kitty, children of old Sheepy, from Dorris' Ranch where they arrived last night. Sheepy, Tom and Kitty are Modocs who have remained at Dorris' Ranch since the Modoc trouble commenced.

Gen. Ross and staff of the Oregon Volunteers and Capt. Rodgers with detachments of their respective commands are now in camp looking after the Indians now under guard. The probabilities are that they would like very much to have them under their charge but the end and time is not yet.

There are three companies of Oregon Volunteers in the field now and one being organized in the Klamath Basin. Capt. Holland's Company "D" is stationed in Goose Lake valley, while the others will be stationed along the State line, on the alert for straggling parties from the lava beds. Woe be to the unfortunate Indians who fall into their clutches! The estimated number of Oregon Volunteers now in the field is about 150 rank and file.

We hear from Klamath that the Indians have been much excited about the killing of two Indians at Silver Lake north of Goose Lake valley by the settlers. Agent Dyer from the reservation, accompanied by O. C. Applegate and 20 reservation Indians are now there investigating the affair, hence there is another dark cloud arising but it may blow over. No news in camp. Everything is quiet.

Weather fine and [illegible].

HEADQUARTERS MODOC EXPEDITION,
FAIRCHILD'S RANCH, May 25.

Capt. Hasbrouck, commanding the Second Squadron of Cavalry composed of Light Battery B, Fourth Artillery, and Troop G, First Cavalry, and Lieut. H. W. Winters, and G. G. Ryle left camp yesterday morning on a scout.

Gen. Davis, accompanied by John Fairchild, six mounted men and four of our principal Indian prisoners, viz.: Bogus Charley, Shack-nasty Jim, Steamboat Frank and the Curley-headed Doctor, left this place at two o'clock yesterday afternoon for parts unknown. The Indians are well armed with carbines and furnished with plenty of ammunition and good horses. These Indians are some of the principal characters in this Modoc drama, and after all the treacheries committed by them, I would trust these red devils not too much. We hope they will return safe and reinforced by about ten more prisoners, Jack included.

Gen. Davis and party arrived safe at Lost River and camped there last night, as we are informed by a courier, who has just arrived from [illegible].

Mr. Booker, of the San Francisco Bulletin, accompanied Gen. Davis, and we will be able to report full details soon.

Colonel Barry, commanding the First Squadron, will start with his command composed of F Troop, First Cavalry, under Lieut. W. H. Miller, and H Troop, First Cavalry, under Maj. J. G. Trimble with 20 Warm Spring Indians, next Wednesday morning. Col. Perry's Troop F is known as one of the best in the Regiment, in regard to the [illegible] of it, as well as its horses. We wish [illegible] good luck.

Gen. Wheaton, commanding the District of the Lakes and Modoc Expedition, has announced the following officers at these headquarters: First Lieut. John Q. Adams, First Cavalry, well known as Chief Signal Officer under Gen. Gillem, Acting Assistant Adjutant General, Signal Officer and Acting Aid-de-Camp; Capt. C. H. Hoyt, Quartermaster, U.S.A., Chief Quartermaster and Commissary of Subsistence; Assistant Surgeon H. J. Phillips, Chief Medical Officer; Maj. Mason, 21st Infantry, commanding the infantry forces at this camp, is in charge of all the Indian prisoners now in confinement.

Gen. Ross, with his Oregon Volunteers, arrived in camp this afternoon. The command looks well and soldierly.

This camp commences to look like a business place. Tents are going up in every corner. Quartermaster's and commissary storehouses are up; also Walbridge's store and is doing splendid business. [illegible] has his traveling hotel put up close to Fairchild's house and is well patronized.

Gen. Wheaton means business. I saw him walking up and down in front of his tent this morning, before the first call for reveille, and I think and I am certain that we have the right man in the right place after all.

Teams are coming in heavily loaded with grain and commissary stores. We had quite a rain last night. The weather to-day is very pleasant.

Capt. Bancroft, Fourth Artillery, arrived in camp from San Francisco, and is ordered to the supply camp to relieve Capt. Field, Fourth Artillery, who is ordered to Alcatraz Island, Cal.

The troops are anxiously waiting for the Paymaster.

Mr. Tyckner will run the mail between here and Yreka twice a week. We have also a weekly mail to Linkville, established to enable the District Commander to communicate with the posts Warner, Harney, Klamath and Bidwell, belonging to his command.

An Extreme War Measure.

Gen. Davis Emulates the Dead Commissioners.

Sage Opinions by the Warlike Bunker.

Other Nonsense.

BOYLE'S CAMP (on the Tule Lake Peninsula), May 26—1 P. M.—Late Saturday afternoon, the Modoc warriors who recently surrendered held a secret interview with Gen. Davis, at Fairchild's, in the course of which Shack-nasty Jim and Steamboat Frank, the leading ruffians of the tribe, submitted to him a bold proposition in regard to the capture or extermination of Capt. Jack and his band, the precise nature of which I am not at liberty to disclose. Suffice it to say that it was what may be termed an extreme war measure. No one save Fairchild and Col Sumner were at the time let into the secret. Few knew that the interview had been held. None outside of those already mentioned anticipated the request. After the interview, Col. Hoyt, Quartermaster, was ordered to purchase several horses and have them shod without delay for a special purpose; but the General was still mum, and no one but the correspondent suspected that any important movement was on foot.

Yesterday at noon, Bogus Charley, Shack-nasty Jim, Steamboat Frank and Hooka Jim passed through camp to the headquarters tent with Springfield rifles across their shoulders and plump cartridge boxes at their belts. There was a sensation among the soldiers at once. Rumors were thick as leaves in autumn. Still General Davis maintained silence and the secret remained intact. Horses were saddled and the General, two citizens, the four Modocs and five soldiers sped away. Your correspondent gathered his "Nancy" from the field and followed in hot pursuit. Five miles from Fairchild's on the lava bed road, I overtook the party and was invited to accompany it to its journey's end. We rode along without incident until within five miles of the lava bed, when two of the soldiers were sent away with a dispatch to Hasbrouck's command, temporarily camping on Lost river. The party thereafter consisted of the commander, three soldiers, three citizens including the writer and the four warriors. At the lava bed bluff we found Col. Mendenhall camped and ready to move to Boyle's via Lost river in the morning. Both officers and men were fairly shocked with surprise when we entered camp. The sight certainly was a novel one.

In the morning General Davis announced that the party would push forward through the lava bed for Boyle's Camp. Again they stood aghast. The boldness of the proposition almost took away their breath. There might be Indians in the bed. Our warriors were likely to prove treacherous. All sorts of terrors were before us. The General adhered to his original idea, and after shaking hands with friends and acquaintances, we entered the bed at the old southern camp, in regular order.

The bed had already been abandoned. Our party was the only one known to be about the place. Shortly after entering the bed, Bogus Charley said he and his companions had better take the lead and scout for Modocs. No one objected, and they went ahead. Every rock and bush [illegible] to come within the immediate scope of their vision. More than a dozen times before reaching Jack's stronghold, they compelled us to halt while they crawled along galleries and [illegible] over ridges. This scouting business got to be provokingly suggestive of death. We had passed through the worst places and beyond Jack's old stronghold and Scorpion Point without [illegible] any person and were beginning to breathe easy and natural, when a speck of war appeared.

Shack-nasty Jim and Hooka Jim were about sixty yards in advance of us, and hid from view by a ridge. We were riding single file through a narrow gorge in a place admirably adapted to an ambush, when bang went a rifle, then another, followed by six in rapid succession. All dismounted at once and sought cover, each heading for the front in different directions. Gen. Davis went to the right with his carbine and took a position in the rocks. Shack-nasty Jim and Bogus Charley, who had been scouting in the rocks on either side of our [illegible], came to the front at a rapid pace, and as they passed Gen. Davis said: "Spose them Modocs. We fight for you! We think 'em Indians." The General was perfectly cool. He looked as if he was hunting for a fight. For about five minutes after this, the [illegible] we occupied presented a strange [illegible]. We could hear the rifle balls whizzing through the air. At each shot we expected to [illegible] a volley in our midst. After a deal of twisting and [illegible] among the rocks, we learned that the two Jims were shooting at ducks. We re-mounted and rode on, satisfied that we had [illegible] expended to [illegible] of powder for five minutes in a [illegible] fight.

The trip through the lava bed carried us near the scene of the Peace Commission murder. What a contrast! Our party [illegible] and Modocs [illegible] to the teeth [illegible]. We also passed over the [illegible] battlefields of the lava bed and had the noted spots pointed out by the Modocs. Shack-nasty Frank was apparently well acquainted with Jack's [illegible] tactics. The Modocs gave us several [illegible] of their marksmanship. Hooka Jim killed several pelicans at from 75 to 100 yards [illegible], shooting two with one ball; and Bogus [illegible] shot ducks. They said [illegible] when they got accustomed to the Springfield rifle they could do good [illegible]. [illegible] of the [illegible] thought we would never leave the lava bed alive. They said there was every reason to believe that the Modocs [illegible], but Gen. Davis thought otherwise [illegible] took the [illegible]. And seven whites riding with four of the bravest Modoc warriors, through the heart of the lava bed, did take chances worth talking about. [illegible] Davis [illegible] tested the loyalty of the [illegible] Hooka Jim, the Lost river murderer, is the [illegible] Modoc alive. He fairly [illegible] Davis [illegible] at [illegible] Customs at the Lava Bed [illegible]. As [illegible] war is the only thing that will save [illegible] cavalry [illegible] hire, and will [illegible] in a few days.

MAY 27—8 A. M.—[illegible] Bogus Charley, Hooka Jim, Steamboat Frank and Shack-nasty Jim [illegible] on a scout, taking [illegible] days [illegible] Jack and [illegible] BUNKER.

FAIRCHILD'S RANCH, May 28. [illegible] morning the last [illegible] of the First Cavalry, under Capt. Perry, with the [illegible] of the Warm Spring Indians [illegible] of about 125 [illegible] command, left this place for Boyle's Camp [illegible] the lava beds, to [illegible] It [illegible] of there, in the Pitt River country [illegible] operations are to be [illegible] for a while to [illegible] are now left here, but [illegible] quarters of the expedition.

Stragglers from the [illegible] are [illegible] daily. [illegible] old [illegible] squaw and papoose [illegible] bow and quiver full of arrows. To-day [illegible] that two warriors lie in the hills [illegible] white man who knows them [illegible] with the [illegible] in and surrender. So, gradually the number of Modocs grows smaller and the war cloud becomes less threatening.

The following is [illegible] by Col. J. M. T. Miller, of the Oregon Volunteers: Capt. Mulholland and twenty [illegible] the Volunteers [illegible] Wetas creek, on their way for arms and ammunition for a company of fifty [illegible] there for self protection by order of the Governor of Oregon. The arms and ammunition [illegible] furnished and the men returned.

The report about the killing of the two Indians is as follows: Six Snakes, who have left the Yainax or Klamath [illegible] have [illegible] and the [illegible] so that the settlers posted forty [illegible] on the Chewaucan. The day before the killing, a white [illegible] was run into the fort by [illegible]. The next day a party [illegible] out to look [illegible] stock and [illegible] three Indians driving [illegible]. When [illegible] to stop, one ran and the others followed, and on being pursued by the white [illegible], one of the Indians turned upon one of the white [illegible] with his bow, when the white man killed him with a double-barrelled shot gun. Returning with the other two Indians to the fort, one of them attempted to run away and was also shot. Dyar, Applegate and the Indian Chief have been out to see the Indians. McKAY.

The Indian Troubles Near Goose Lake

JACK'S STRATEGY.

JACKSONVILLE, May 27, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Before this reaches you you will be informed by telegraph of the killing of two Snake Indians and one Modoc who belong to Captain Jack's band. They were caught driving cattle out of Chewaucan Valley. the settlers attacked them, killed one and took the other two prisoners. One of them attempted to escape and was instantly shot. The Modoc is still a prisoner. It is reported that Ocho has threatened to kill all the men in Goose Lake Valley and take the women prisoners. He has about 600 warriors. Should he be joined by Jack they would make it very lively for the settlers in that section. General J. E. Ross, upon the receipt of this news, broke camp and started immediately for Goose Lake with arms and ammunition for the settlers. The future of the country east of the mountains looks gloomy indeed. Jack has rid himself of his squaws and children, which have encumbered him much in his past operations, and has very wisely turned them over to the Government, that they may be fed and taken care of, while he fights and desolates the country.

The Covington (Ky.) Journal relates a touching incident which occurred recently in that city.

A short time since, in this city, a brilliant and much admired lady, who had been suffering for some time with a trouble of the eyes, was led to fear a speedy change for the worse, and immediately consulted her physician. An examination discovered a sudden and fatal failing in the optic nerve, and the information was imparted as gently as possible that the patient could not retain her sight more than a few days at most, and was liable to be totally deprived of it at any moment. The afflicted mother returned to her home, quietly made such arrangements as would occur to one about to commence so dark a journey of life, and then had her two little children attired in their brightest and sweetest costumes, brought before her, and so, with their little faces lifted to hers, and tears gathering for some great misfortune that they hardly realized, the light faded out of the mother's eyes, leaving an ineffaceable picture of those dearest to her on earth—a memory of bright faces that will console her in many a dark hour

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 29, 1873.

Why is Money Scarce in Oregon?

Money is scarce all over the United States, and why should it not be so in Oregon? There are several very good reasons why, with a well organized internal economy and industry, the States on the Pacific coast, and especially Oregon, should suffer less from the general stringency in the money market than other sections of the United States. While the people of this coast use no more goods of foreign manufacture than those of other portions of the country, in proportion to population, their industry can be made more directly productive. The same circumstances that have enabled the people of the Pacific States to maintain a currency of the precious metals during the long time that has elapsed since the greenback era commenced, conspire to protect us against much of the financial pressure that is felt in the East.

But money is "tight" here in spite of all theories; and from all we can gather, is quite as close as in any other part of the United States, and much more so than in the East generally. Why is this? The answer, we apprehend, that will suggest itself to most persons, is, we have sent away all our money to pay interest on the bonds that have been placed in Europe to raise money to build our railways. By one means and another, mainly through enormous freight charges that have taken away all the profits of industry, the money has been wrung out of the producers of the country to pay this interest, and every dollar of it taken entirely out of circulation here and carried across the Atlantic. No country having a population of only about 100,000, or at most 120,000, with only the income derived from the simple and primitive industries that prevail in Oregon, could send away annually $765,000, without very sensibly feeling the loss of This is undoubtedly the main cause of extreme closeness in money matters.

But there are other things that contribute largely to the same result, besides this constant draught to pay interest on indebtedness held abroad, and besides our want of manufactures in their general and extended sense. Let any man who desires to ascertain facts for himself step into the stores of our retail grocers and inquire where the articles he finds there butter, cheese, even vegetables for the table were raised, and see what answer he will receive. He will be surprised to find that a very large proportion of all these things come from California. Why should this be so? Oregon has natural advantages of the very highest kind for the carrying on of every variety of domestic industry. Where is there such another country for dairy purposes? Certainly not in California. Where a country in which such a magnificent vegetable garden can be shown without an immensely greater outlay of money and labor? Certainly not in California. The idea of Oregon people, even those away inland, buying their butter and honey, and potatoes from California! Why, we ought almost to drive California productions out of the San Francisco market.

The completion of the Locks at the Falls of the Wallamet and the placing of opposition boats on the river, have now freed the great Wallamet valley from the necessity of submitting to the extortions of the railway company, and enabled them, if they choose, to keep their freight money at home, and thus to reap the double benefit of low freights and home circulation of the money they pay. This can not but have a perceptible effect in relieving the country from financial pressure. It has stopped to a considerable extent the one most exhausting drain upon the resources of the Wallamet valley, and its favorable effect upon business of every kind is sure to be seen and felt in the fall when the harvest is over. But the needed reform in these matters will be completed only when the importation from California of the articles of every-day consumption above specified, and numerous others not mentioned but equally unnecessary, is stopped by our tables being supplied from our own fields and dairies.

More Lands in the Market.

The purchase by the Pacific Land Company of the land grant belonging to the Central Military road company will doubtless prove an important event in the history of the State. We are informed by the agent of the purchasers that steps will be taken immediately to place the lands in the market upon such terms as will bring them within the reach of all persons desiring to secure homes.

This grant embraces some of the finest lands in the State, and the opening them up to settlement can not but stimulate the settlement of that section which is traversed by the road. This road reaches from the Wallamet valley to the Idaho line, which it intersects in the Owyhee country. The grade over the Cascade mountains is so gentle the ascent and descent are almost imperceptible, and immediately east of these mountains it enters a country offering great advantages to immigrants, having prairie land and timber, valleys for the plow and grassy hills for grazing, with streams of fine water at short intervals affording abundant water power, as well as an ample supply for all other purposes. It passes through the fine country of the Klamath, Christmas and Goose Lakes, celebrated for their adaptations to agricultural pursuits and especially to stock-raising. Hon. B. J. Pengra, who is probably more familiar with that region than any other man in the State, says he considers this lake country the best, by far, for stock-raising purposes. of all countries he has seen on the coast. It is not subject to the droughts that occur in some other sections of the country east of the mountains, nor to the extreme cold of some other districts, it has better grass, more convenient water privileges, and a better and a more accessible supply of timber.

We are not fully advised as to the terms upon which these lands can be had, further than that they will be offered in such a manner that no one need remain without a home, who desires to settle in that part of the State, and that in their disposition actual settlers are to have a preference in the right to purchase.

Now here's another bailee of the "dear people" come to grief: Mr. Seegur, of Minnesota, a gentleman whose peculations from the treasury at the free commonwealth above-mentioned, attracted the attention of a trustful constituency, has just been tried by a jury of his peers, (otherwise a court of impeachment), found guilty, and sentenced to removal from office. Evidently, the people of Minnesota have not yet accustomed themselves to the unrestrained indulgence of the average official's appetite. Which is an encouraging sign in American politics.

The New York Tribune of the 16th inst. announces that on the following day the demolition of the old Tribune building would begin. The new building to be erected will be nine stories high and surmounted by a lofty tower. It is understood, though the Tribune does not announce it, that the estimates for its new building amount to $650,000. The contract requires it to be finished and ready for occupancy by the first of May next. The entire work will be under the general supervision of Richard M. Hunt, President of the American Council of Architects, and under the general control of Whitelaw Reid, who at the last meeting of the stockholders was unanimously elected editor and publisher of the paper for the term of five years from the 10th of January last, under a contract duly signed, and a forfeit of sixty thousand dollars in case he should be in any way hindered from exercising absolute control over both editorial conduct and the business of the paper.

Further particulars of the late Vienna panic have reached us. A London paper, in an editorial on this subject, says that from the 1st day of May rumors were thickening that monetary institutions in the chief German cities were likely to be hard pushed for resources, which the wild speculations of the previous two years were bringing to maturity, and the Bank of Berlin raised its terms, the Bank of Frankfort and Holland following suit. At Vienna, matters were much worse, for speculation there had been so rampant that the entire community had gone beyond its depth in liabilities to joint-stock schemes, whose shares had been forced to an unnatural premium. The more banks and financial institutions gave credit, the less able were they to meet further demands that went on accumulating until at last the Bourse settlement crash came. A large speculative house failed. Its securities were thrown on the market, and the panic followed. The banks could do no more than they had already done, and failures by hundreds took place.

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church met in Baltimore on the 23d. In the second day's proceedings we note the report of the Board on the Church Erection Fund. It shows: Receipts during the past year, $110,774; number of churches contributing, 11,903; number not contributing, 2,827; amount expended in aid of churches, $88,091; churches receiving aid, 160. During the last three years the Board has completed 585 churches, and secured church property worth $3,000,000. The Board recommend that in future not more than $1,000 be allowed in aid of any one church. The report and recommendation were adopted. A committee was appointed to consider and report to the next General Assembly the subject of issuing a free paper.

We are to have a telescope at Washington—this universal Yankee nation of ours—and it is to be the largest refractory telescope in the world. The object-glass was cast by Messrs. Chance & Brother, of Birmingham, England, and finished by Alvan C. Clark, of Cambridgeport, Mass., who contracts to furnish the instrument for $46,000 in currency. The tube will be of cast steel, thirty-two feet six inches in length, and the object-glass is twenty-six inches in diameter—which is one inch larger, we believe, than the great English telescope constructed by Mr. Cook, which is now located at Gateshead. The monster instrument will be placed in the National Observatory in a few months. A new tower and dome have been constructed especially for its accommodation.

Professor David Murray, for the past ten years Professor of Mathematics, Natural Philosophy and Astronomy in Rutgers' College, at New Brunswick, has left for San Francisco, from which city he will sail on Wednesday, May 21st, for Japan. He will take up his residence at the city of Yeddo, and immediately enter upon the duties of Superintendent of Education, to which he has been appointed by the Japanese Government, his commission stating that he is to have "full charge of all affairs connected with schools and colleges in the empire of Japan" for the term of three years. He is to receive $10,000 per year in gold, his expenses out being also paid by the Japanese Government.

Further reports from Washington, Iowa, the scene of the terrific tornado of which our dispatches spoke several days since, say that six of the persons injured on the 22nd inst. have died since the first dispatch was sent, and that others are hurt so severely that they cannot survive. "The force of the storm was such that nothing resisted it. Heavy cattle were carried over a quarter of mile and driven into the ground with such violence as to half imbed them in the earth. Tools and farm implements of all kinds were torn in fragments. Even spokes of wheels were torn out." The storm seems to have been one of unparalleled violence. It raged over two counties.

General Jeff. C. Davis has performed a remarkable piece of military stratagem. He has armed Bogus Charley and the Shacknasty tribe with Springfield rifles and "plump cartridge-boxes" (to use the language of Bunker—he of the tropical luxuriance of diction) and taken them out on an expedition against Captain Jack. It is unnecessary to make any comment on this foolhardy business. We hope that General Davis will return from his tour in the lava-bed. Our pencil is sharpened for an obituary "General Jefferson C. Davis was born of poor but honest"—but we forbear.

The first invoice of postal cards arrived in San Francisco on the 24th inst. A million were ordered. One hundred and fifty thousand were received, and of that number 72,373 were sold in four days. The Call says of them "The letter boxes are stuffed with them, the mail bags distended, the carriers burdened—at least this is the prospect so long as the novelty of the new-fangled missives lasts; and many will be the objurations of the deliverers, and maledictions of the receivers, on whom mean postoffice jokes have been played."

Here are a few samples of the messages sent.

"The cow is sick" "How is the baby?" "I will invite myself up to dinner have shrimps and soft potatoes." "I wish you would make an early settlement of your account." "What do you think of our new postal card?" "I won't be home to dinner to night" "Come and see me" "Meet me by moonlight, or any other light" "Kiss me quick and go." "I will be faithful to you for three months, and no longer." "You will oblige me very much by sending $7 in currency, and save all trouble." "You haven't paid for that last suit," "How are all the folks?" "Please drop a line, it don't cost much now."

To a friend in the Modoc country

"That washerwoman expresses great solicitude for your safety, as she will be out and injured 15 cents for washing that shirt. Have the Modocs scalped you? She says if you cannot pay it now, she would like to have a note for it on thirty days, or an order on your agents. She says she won't like to be humbugged any longer."

The Khedive and his Subjects.

The Observer's correspondent in Egypt writes as follows:

Within a few years slavery has been abolished in Egypt, so that no man can legally hold a slave against his will. Still slavery exists essentially, in a modified form. Men and women are bought and sold every day in Assouan, and brought down to Egypt. They are so poor and ignorant that they cannot leave their masters for fear of starvation, and they prefer slavery to freedom. The captain of our boat bought a Nubian girl for seventy five dollars, and brought her down the river with us. She seemed to prefer her new master to the misery and degradation of her former situation. The harems of the Khedive and of his pachas are filled with slaves. Such are some of the evidences of material progress and enterprise in Egypt. But I fail to see any well directed efforts to elevate and enlighten the people, to relieve them of the oppression to which they have patiently submitted for thousands of years—to give them, and prepare them for, the blessings of freedom. The people are poor, degraded, ignorant, living in mud hovels like beasts, and with beasts. They have no organized industries. Tilling and irrigating the land in the rudest way seems to be their only occupation, and the best part of all the products the Khedive takes in one way or another. He has failed to establish or maintain courts where justice can be obtained. It is proverbially true that the richest man will always win his suit in an Egyptian court. There is no such thing known in Egypt as justice.

Instead of lightening the burdens of the people, he has increased them. His canals are made, his vast sugar and cotton plantations and sugar manufactories, are worked by the poor, who are forced to labor twelve hours in a day, with barely enough to eat as their only remuneration. In a journey of 300 miles up the Nile, above Cairo, I passed 15 or 20 of these sugar manufactories, employing from 1,000 to 2,500 men each. Boats filled with the cane were coming in every direction on the river, and trains of camels a mile or more long, laden with cane, can be seen approaching the factories from all parts of the valley.

A Western Myth.—The Unionville (Nev.) Silver State says:

W. H. Claggett was elected Delegate to Congress, and secured for his friend, A. J. Simmons, the Milk River Indian Agency. W. B. Judd was engaged as clerk of the Agency. He being a man of genius proposed a scheme for the enrichment of himself and his principal. He collected straggling Indians from different bands and tribes and founded the Teton Sioux—the name being derived from three mountain peaks at the head of Snake river, Idaho, near which the new tribe was colonized. They were represented by Judd and Simmons as terrible Indians, who had declared a war of extermination against the whites, and their number was estimated at 12,000. These reports, properly substantiated, were sent to Washington, and through the instrumentality of Claggett, Simmons was appointed special agent for the new tribe founded and located by Judd. Simmons, at the risk of his precious life, held a conference with Judd, the chief of the tribe. The result of the "big talk" was sent to Washington. The Tetons were represented as hostile, but hopes were entertained that presents would keep them quiet and bring about friendly relations between them and the whites. An appropriation of $500,000 was asked for this purpose. The eloquent Clagett, as Delegate from the Territory, presented the matter at Washington, and a bill appropriating $500,000 for the Teton Sioux and $250,000 for the Milk River Agency, became a law. After a goodly portion of the appropriation had been expended—not on the Indians, but among the members of the ring—rumors reached Washington that the Teton Sioux existed only in the imagination of Simmons, Judd & Co. To convince the skeptical at Washington that the Teton Sioux really did exist, Simmons started with a few Indians kept up by the ring for the purpose of making annual visits to the National Capital, and representing, as occasion demanded, either of six tribes, and for this he received $10,000. But the presence of Simmons and his plumed warriors at Washington did not satisfy those not in the ring, of the existence of the Teton Sioux. It was alleged that the Indians received no benefit from the appropriation that the Teton Sioux did not live in Montana, or anywhere else for that matter, and that the whole thing was a fraud. Congress ordered an investigation of the alleged frauds, and the President has appointed W. H. Clagett special agent to make it.

An Actress Prostrated with Grief at the Death of Her Horse.—The accident at the Grand Opera House last Saturday, during the performance of the Mazeppa scene by Miss Leo. Hudson, with her trained pony Black Bess, receives a touch of pathos in the announcement of the severe illness of the actress, caused by grief at the death of the pony. Miss Hudson was passionately attached to her beautiful pet, which had been her constant companion for a long time, and which was an uncommonly intelligent and tractable animal. It was her custom to give Black Bess a good share of the care she required and the affection of the latter for her mistress was as remarkable as the perfection wherewith she always performed her part of the play. As soon as the accident occurred Miss Hudson summoned a veterinary surgeon, and every effort was made to save the life of the pony, but in vain. Miss Hudson, bruised and lacerated as she was by her severe fall, never left her pet until it was dead, but sat holding its head in her arms, talking to it and soothing its sufferings as she might have done for a human being she loved. When it died she became almost frantic with grief. Her own injuries had seriously shocked her nerves, but she held out for more than twelve hours by the side of her dying pony, utterly refusing to leave it even for the sake of the rest and care she herself needed almost as imperatively as did her poor, dumb patient. When the pony died she was utterly exhausted with the shock of her injuries and her loss of sleep, and this, with her passionate grief, brought on an attack of brain fever, in which condition she lay all day yesterday in her room at the St. Clair House. She constantly bemoans the loss of her pet pony, which was doubly endeared to her, in that it was not only a companion but a means of gaining a livelihood.—St. Louis Republican, May 13th.

"Fritz" writes to the New York Evening Mail:

The excellent suggestion, whispered in many quarters, that Judge E. Rockwood Hoar be appointed Chief Justice, recalls to mind some lines by Lowell, in the learned disquisition with which he allows Parson Wilbur to introduce Hosea Biglow's "Mason and Slidell. A Yankee Idyll." He had mentioned Concord and its Bridge, and as soon as he could turn his lumbering discourse around, he quoted Hosea's verses, as follows:

> "But nowadays the Bridge ain't wut they show,
> So much ez Em'son, Hawthorne an' Thoreau.
> I know the village, though; was sent there once
> A-schoolin', 'cause to home I played the dunce;
> An' I've ben sence a-visitin' the Judge,
> Whose garding whispers with the river's edge,
> Where I've sot mornin's lazy as the bream,
> Whose on'y business is to head up-stream,
> (We call 'em punkin seed), or else in chat
> Along 'th the Judge, who covers with his hat
> More wut an' gumption and shrewd Yankee sense
> Than there is mosses on an ole stone fence."

It seems well to add—for the information of President Grant and others—that the term Yankee is here used in its best Massachusetts signification, not hyper-Athenian Boston, nor up-country nasal, but substantial, May Flower, Plymouth Rock, common-school, Harvard sense.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 29, 1873.

CITY.

IN QUARANTINE.—From the best information we can obtain, it appears that the steamship John L. Stephens, from San Francisco, is now in quarantine at Astoria, with one or more cases of smallpox on board. The steamer crossed the bar on Tuesday morning, about 5 o'clock, and on arriving at Astoria, was taken in charge by the Health Officer and not allowed to proceed up the river. One of the waiters employed on board the steamer was taken sick during the passage, and the symptoms indicated smallpox. So well satisfied of this fact was the Health Officer, that he felt warranted in holding the vessel in quarantine, until the disease should more clearly define itself. It is in consequence of the real or supposed presence of this loathsome disease that the steamship is detained, so we have been informed. As yet we have received no official information in relation to the matter; but the news appears to come through an authentic channel, which should entitle it to a good degree of credence. Meantime the steamer will remain in the river opposite Astoria until released by the Officer. Last evening the E. N. Cooke came up from Astoria, bringing the mails. She also brought a few passengers, including Mr. Latham and the German capitalists who came hither to investigate the condition of the [illegible] road. A tug boat came alongside the [illegible] yesterday morning at an early hour, took the gentlemen off and transferred them to the E. N. Cooke. It is a question difficult to determine at present when the steamer will arrive; and it remains to be hoped that all apprehensions relative to the appearance of this terrible scourge may be wholly without foundation.

ARM BROKEN.—A few days ago, a man named "Doc" Daugherty, who lives on a farm near Cornelius, had the misfortune to break his left arm. Daugherty was engaged in plowing in a field some distance from the house, and, when the hour of noon arrived, unhitched his team, placed three children on one animal, and mounting the [illegible] for home. One of the animals became frightened and started to run off. It happened to be the one on which the children were [illegible]. The father followed as rapidly as the speed of his animal would permit, but did not succeed in overtaking the runaway until the children were thrown to the ground. In [illegible] Daugherty's horse became unmanageable, threw him off, and then ran over him. He was [illegible] by the fall, and his left arm [illegible] by being trampled on. Almost miraculous as it may appear, the children, small as they are, escaped without injury. The fractured limb was set, and the injured man is in a [illegible].

AMPUTATION NECESSARY.—Mr. George Lair, who [illegible] Washington county, near the Tualatin [illegible], met with a [illegible] painful and serious accident [illegible] while engaged in shearing sheep. [illegible] Mr. Lair went to work rather [illegible] and while so engaged the sheep, [illegible] suddenly sprang up and gave a [illegible]. The heels of the animal struck Mr. Lair's left hand, and drove the point of the [illegible] into the wrist of the right arm. Before [illegible] or check the force of the [illegible], the point of the shears penetrated to the [illegible] of the limb, inflicting a severe gash and severed the [illegible] artery. Dr. Bailey was summoned [illegible] made to staunch the flow of blood; but before the physician arrived Lair came [illegible] to death. A tight bandage finally stayed the blood, when the artery was taken up. [illegible], it is thought, will be necessary [illegible] of gangrene which has set in. Ere this [illegible] is probable that Lair has [illegible].

STATE MILITARY ROAD.—Information is learned [illegible] a gentleman just from Washington county that the State Military Road, which is to lead from Cornelius to Astoria, is being rapidly [illegible]. Fifteen or twenty [illegible] are at present engaged in [illegible] the route [illegible] towards the [illegible]. At last accounts, the party had [illegible] a point in the [illegible] fifteen [illegible] north of Cornelius, and were working on [illegible] the Columbia. The road is located by [illegible] the [illegible] and only a narrow trail sufficiently wide for one horse to travel with ease [illegible]. Even the logs are not cut off, it [illegible] intended for the present that horses shall [illegible] the [illegible]. As the season [illegible] work will be [illegible] up and the wagon [illegible]. Another party of [illegible] are engaged [illegible] the road in a [illegible] manner from Astoria [illegible] Cornelius. The people of Washington county are looking forward to the opening of [illegible] with no small degree of interest.

BLACK SAND MINES.—A son of Mr. N. H. [illegible], of East Portland, who is now on a visit to Coos Bay, gives the following account of the [illegible] in which the Black Sand Mines are [illegible]: [illegible] several hundred [illegible] long [illegible] the mines and are taking out the black sand [illegible] car load, each car holding a ton of sand, [illegible] it over quicksilver, catching about [illegible] of the gold, the balance goes sailing [illegible] the creek. But by the [illegible] they will save all of it. The new [illegible] consists of boiling the sand with quicksilver in large cauldrons, each holding a ton, [illegible] being twenty of these cauldrons. After [illegible] for some time, the gold and quicksilver are separated from the sand, which is easily [illegible].

PROBABLY WILL NOT BUILD.—Trade and travel [illegible] the upper and lower Columbia is said to be dull at present. The Oregon Steam Navigation Company proposed early in the season to [illegible] a steamer this summer, with special [illegible] to the transportation of freight. The [illegible] of this additional steamer was in anticipation of an unusually active season for business. [illegible] appearances indicate but little activity in [illegible] of trade this year. Unless there is [illegible] in the volume of traffic it is [illegible] that the construction of the proposed [illegible] will be indefinitely deferred. Business [illegible] sluggish move [illegible] scarcely [illegible].

[illegible].—It has been determined by Dr. [illegible], the owner of the steamer Onealta to run that steamer on the line between Portland and [illegible]. The trips will be daily, the Onealta [illegible] at noon, passing the night at St. [illegible] the next day. Several men [illegible] overhauling the boat, refitting the cabin, etc. An order was [illegible] San Francisco a few days since for new [illegible], life preservers and other necessary [illegible]. These articles are expected to arrive on [illegible]. A few days after they arrive, the [illegible] will be ready for service. The first trip will be made by the latter part of next week.

A HOG'S HEAD.—At the show window of C. E. [illegible] on First street, is displayed a huge and [illegible] head of a buffalo. The animal, of which this head [illegible] a part, was killed near [illegible] ago, and the caput sent to Mr. [illegible], of this city. A pair of glass [illegible] the place of these natural orbs, and [illegible] have been blackened and polished, causing the head to assume a very ferocious aspect. [illegible] sides of the animal's head is [illegible] enveloped with a dense mass of coarse [illegible], which does not add much towards [illegible] its repulsive effect.

[illegible].—To-morrow being Decoration [illegible] from the different Posts will arrive [illegible] up the valley this evening on the train. [illegible] delegations, we are informed, will be in attendance at the imposing ceremonies of Friday, [illegible] Post No. 2, of Salem, and Wright Post No. 5, of Eugene City. At the depot, [illegible] delegations will be met by committees [illegible] Baker and Canby Posts, of this city, and escorted to the hotels.

FINISHED NEXT WEEK.—The steamer Daisy [illegible] will be finished next week in complete [illegible] to make the trial trip. However, the trial trip may not be made by the steamer for some time to come, or at least not until Captain [illegible] is ready, as that experienced gentleman will no doubt take his place at the wheel when the Daisy makes her maiden trip.

MAKING RETURNS.—According to the late law the County Assessor, Mr. John Dolan, has entered upon the labor of assessing the county. He spends two days each week—Fridays and Saturdays—in his office. Many of the property holders are availing themselves of the opportunity, and are sending in written statements of their property.

SURPRISE PARTY.—Quite a number of ladies and gentlemen called at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Kilbourn, on Third street, last evening, completely surprising them. The evening was spent very pleasantly in dancing to the splendid music with which the company came provided.

NO BOAT TO LEWISTON.—There being no boat despatched to Lewiston this week, passengers both coming from and going to that point, are delayed one week. For some days past, the people of Hillsboro and vicinity have been anxiously anticipating the arrival of Courtney Meeks, who was arrested some time ago at Lewiston for the killing of Jacob Smith three years since in Washington county. Meeks was arrested on a requisition from Gov. Grover, and was to have been tried at the present term of the Circuit Court for Washington county. Unless brought down overland, Meeks will not arrive until one week from next Saturday.

FIRE.—A fire broke out this morning about 3 o'clock, on Third street, between Yamhill and Taylor, in a building occupied by Fanny O'Neil. The fire was so far progressed before the Department could get on the ground, that the fire demon swept everything in its onward course, destroying furniture, clothing and everything that flames could devour. The buildings on each side were badly damaged, but the Department had the fire under control by the time we go to press. Mr. Sterritt, in escaping from the burning building through a window, was badly cut and bruised.

A DELEGATION.—Should the weather to-morrow prove very stormy the members of the Grand Army of the Republic will not proceed in a body to the Lone Fir Cemetery. In the event of inclemency only a small delegation will visit the cemetery for the purpose of decorating the graves, and the usual ceremonies of the occasion will take place at the Court House in the evening.

EXAMINATION—CLOSING EXERCISES.—The annual examination and closing exercises of the Bishop Scott Grammar School will be held on the 10th and 11th of June. Studies will not be resumed in that institution until the 1st of September.

SITE LOCATED.—We learn that the site for the new bridge which it is proposed to construct in the lower part of the city has been located. On the west side of the river the bridge is to be located at the foot of J street, and on the east side at the end of Holladay's avenue.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Still it rains.

Mud appearing.

Continued dampness.

Cherries are ripening.

A [illegible].

The 5th day of June has been determined upon by the Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society as the one on which their annual picnic and excursion will be given. Harmony Grove, situated on the Columbia river, a short distance above Vancouver, has been selected by the Committee as the grounds on which the picnic is to be held. These grounds have been selected with a special view to comfort and pleasure. A splendid platform 50x100 has been erected expressly for this occasion, where the votaries of the Terpsichorean art can enjoy themselves to their hearts' content. This platform will be completely screened from the rays of the sun by evergreens. It will also be festooned with choice flowers, thus imparting to the scene an unique and fairy-like appearance. For this express occasion, the O. S. N. Company's elegant steamer Oneonta has been chartered, having ample accommodations for one thousand persons. This steamer will leave her wharf at 8:30 o'clock A. M. Additional pleasure will be afforded the participants by the East Portland Brass Band, which has also been engaged for the day, and which will discourse a number of favorite airs. Exercises at the grounds after the arrival of the excursionists, will consist of dancing, ladies' target shooting, duck shooting with shillelah, sack, foot, wheelbarrow, boat and hurdle racing, base and foot ball, climbing greased pole, etc., etc., in which a number of prizes are to be distributed among successful competitors. The day's pleasure will conclude with a [illegible] of fat men, each competitor not weighing less than 200 pounds, and to run for a [illegible] of 300 yards, and a grand balloon ascension. Extent and variety of arrangements made by the Committee gives assurance that the [illegible] will prove one of the grand events of the season.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Mr. A. S. Gross has money to loan.

Several ads appear to-day, requiring the attention of our numerous readers.

Be sure and attend the auction sale of flowers, etc., under Oro Fino Hall at 10 A. M.

Professor O. S. Fowler will lecture this evening at Masonic Hall on the subject of "Self and Juvenile Improvement."

You should certainly have an organ in your house when they can be had at such low prices. Not wishing to be outdone in liberality in that direction, Mr. Badger will sell the Geo. Woods organs at prices that will admit of no possible chance to be underbid. He has them in many styles, and when you once hear them you will want to listen to them again. He has the Hallet, Davis & Co's pianos, of which so much has been said. Finally consult his card elsewhere.

BASE BALL.

On the same day the Baltimores defeated the Marylands by a score of 26 to 5.

The Pacific Club intend giving the Pioneers a chance to play them, and if they do it will be close work.

The Philadelphians defeated the Athletics, May 13th, in thirteen innings, the score showing five to four.

The Mutuals, of New York, and Washingtons, of Washington, played the first game of a championship series in Washington on the 14th inst. It resulted in favor of the former by a score of six to two. By reason of alleged foul play of the Mutuals, the umpire gave the Washingtons two runs on the ninth inning.

PERSONAL.

Dr. S. Parker of this city has recently received the appointment by the Government of Surgeon of the military post at Sitka. He will start for his future field of labor on the return trip of the California now due here.

If you want the woven wire bed, parlor and bedroom suits, the best spring and pure hair mattresses, go to Hurgren & Shindler.

ON DECK.—Mr. Charles Talbot has opened his Photographic Gallery at 135 First street, where he proposes to produce pictures equal to the best, and at prices that will enable all who desire anything in his line an opportunity to have their "Photos" taken. Be sure to call and see him, and recollect the number.

Mr. John Kennedy, formerly of the Philadelphia Shoe Store, is now at the San Francisco Shoe Store with Fleischner & Crone, where he will be pleased to wait upon his friends and customers, with one of the largest and finest stocks of boots and shoes on the coast. He will also continue to take measures for ladies' custom-made shoes.

COMMON COUNCIL.

REGULAR MEETING, MAY 28, 1873.

The Common Council of the city of Portland met pursuant to ordinance, His Honor Mayor Wasserman presiding.

Present—W. S. Caldwell, Clerk; J. H. Lappeus, Chief of Police. Councilmen Besser, Burton, Congle, Hallock, Hill, Moreland Caywood, Russell and Story.

The Journal of last meeting was read and approved.

PETITIONS, MEMORIALS, ETC.

The petition of Abrams & Hogue and others asking the privilege of placing gates at the foot of Main street was read and prayer thereof refused.

The petition of Mr. Williams, of Washington county, to be reimbursed for damages caused by the breaking of his horse's legs in a bridge in the city limits was read and referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

A communication from Ben Holladay and C. H. Lewis relative to the proposed terminus of the Wallamet river bridge, read and referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The Committee on Fire and Water reported without recommendation, sundry bills for advertising ordered by the Board of Delegates of the Fire Department. A portion of the bills were referred back to the committee and a portion to the Board of Delegates.

The Committee on Streets and Public Property reported on the construction of sewers on Stark and Morrison streets. Report adopted.

CITY PRINTING.

The report of the Auditor and Mayor on the bids received for doing the non-litigant city printing was read and referred to the Auditor with instructions to report which of the bids put in was lowest. The bids were as follows:

PORTLAND, Oregon, May 28, 1873.

To the Common Council of the City of Portland: The OREGONIAN Publishing Company will do the city advertising as follows:

For plain work twenty cents per square, and ten cents per square for each additional insertion for five days.

For 10 days advertising 60 cents per square for full time.

For figure work same price as for plain work.

The attention of the Council is called to the fact that with the type used on the OREGONIAN more matter is published in a square than in either of the other city papers.

The company will give any security for the faithful performance of the contract which may be required.

(Signed)

H. L. PITTOCK, Sec'y.

PORTLAND, Oregon, May 28, 1873.

To the Common Council of the city of Portland—Gentlemen: The following are the prices for which we agree to do the city advertising in the Daily Bulletin, published in this city, according to the proposals advertised:

For plain work twenty (20) cents per square for the first insertion, and five (5) cents for each subsequent not exceeding five (5) in number, and for (10) days' ten insertion seventy (70) cents per square for the whole time.

Rule and figure work double the above rates for the first insertion, the remaining insertions being at the same rates as the above.

THE SUIT ABOUT TAXES.

The following communication from Hon. Wm. Strong was read and placed on file.

To the Honorable, the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Portland—Gentlemen: At the request of your Committee of Ways and Means, under a resolution of the Common Council heretofore passed, I assumed the defense of your City Marshal in the suit commenced against him by the Oregon and California Railroad Company, to enjoin the collection of the city tax against that Company.

A full hearing upon the motion for an injunction was had before his Honor Judge Upton, upon the 20th inst., and he took the case under advisement.

From the facts stated in the complaint and the showing made by plaintiff upon the motion, I see no reason why we may not expect a speedy decision so that the tax against the railroad corporation may, on the expiration of the time prescribed for the publication of the delinquent list, be at once collected, in the same manner as other delinquent taxes are collected. The questions involved are most of them questions of law, and do not seem to me to justify an injunction. They are not new or difficult in my judgment.

The plaintiff, admitting that it had personal property subject to taxation within the city, complains of over taxation, and at the same time shows no excuse for not appearing at the proper time and objecting to the assessment. If the corporation has suffered injustice it is attributable to its own neglect.

From the promptness with which Courts usually decide applications of this kind, a decision may be at any time expected.

An answer has been filed, and I will endeavor to see that the public interests in this matter are not neglected. Very respectfully yours, etc.,

WM. STRONG, Attorney at Law, etc.

Portland, May 28, 1873.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE CITY.

The following claims were ordered paid: Herald Printing Co., $40 25; W. H. Butts, $12 50; J. D. Drew, $10 60; A. Hamilton, $1 50; Sam. Bernheim, $3 50; Helbach Bros, $35; Willamet Iron Works, $48.

ORDINANCES.

An ordinance providing for the erection of an Engine House for Tiger Engine Company No. 5, was read a first and second time, and laid over under the rule.

An ordinance to establish the grade of Columbia street at points on and west of Ninth street, read a first and second time.

An ordinance to amend the Bridge ordinance, and allowing further time to file detailed maps of the channel of the river, was read a first and second time.

An ordinance fixing the pay of the Chief of Police as jailor and for keeping prisoners, was read a first and second time.

The ordinance fixing the salary of the Secretary of the Fire Department, was amended by inserting "$300" per annum, instead of "$500," and the whole subject-matter of the ordinance was indefinitely postponed.

An ordinance authorizing contracts for repairs to Engine Houses, at a cost not exceeding $500, was read a third time and passed.

WIDER STREETS.

Councilman Hallock offered the following which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Clerk and Auditor be and is hereby directed to give notice that the Common Council propose to improve Second street and North First street, in the following manner.

Commencing at the junction of South Second street and Second street and by diverging lines to make said Second street seventy (70) feet wide at its intersection with the south side of Hall street; from thence to widen the said Second street to seventy (70) feet, by adding five (5) feet thereto, on each side, from Hall street to A street, and, to continue in direct line, said Second street through blocks numbered eleven (11) and twelve (12) Couch's Addition, seventy (70) feet wide, to the intersection of North First street and C street. And to widen North First street from said C street to seventy (70) feet,—by adding five (5) feet to each side thereof—to its intersection with North Front street. Provided, that in case a majority of the property owners on said streets shall not object to the improvement thereof, as herein described, then the Common Council shall provide, in consideration of said improvements being made, that no right or franchise shall ever be granted to lay any railroad track or permit any railroad to be laid on, or run through said street without the consent of the owners of two-thirds of the property thereon, except that part of North First street upon which the street railroad is now laid or granted to be laid, thereon.

RESOLUTION TO PROTECT LABORERS.

Councilman Russell offered the following which was read.

WHEREAS, The question of Chinese labor coming in competition with the labor of our own citizens is one that demands the attention of every citizen of our young and growing State, and in view of the direct communication between the countries of Asia and the State of Oregon, large numbers of the Mongolian race are coming to our shores who are ready to fill every position requiring cheap labor and crowd every avenue to employment,

WHEREAS, The Chinese are generally employed upon public works, they receive their wages, hoard their money, which is lost sight of, and does not find its way back to the channels of commerce, consequently paying money to Chinese laborers is a constant drain upon the circulating coin of the country, and and only adds to the stringency of the money market. It is well known that the Chinese come among us not as citizens, to buy lands, make homes, build houses or add to the wealth of the country, but as leeches from the surplus hordes of Asiatic menials to sap our mines, to fill the places where labor is required on public works, as domestics in private families, and when not employed, congregated in great numbers in over crowded, dark, dingy and filthy apartments, and

WHEREAS, The Chinese do not add to the moral, social, political or intellectual status of this community, or the wealth or prosperity of our city and State, but on the contrary, they are monopolizing many of the situations in our midst, that could and would be profitably filled by our own citizens who, instead of remaining idle and unable to procure situations, would be gaining a competence by honest and honorable industry, adding material wealth to the country and independent homes for themselves in our midst; Therefore,

Resolved, That we are not in favor of employing Chinese laborers upon the city contracts.

Resolved, That we would respectfully request all persons having contracts for city work, to desist from employing Chinese labor on the same.

Resolved, That if any contractor shall employ Chinese labor upon any contract hereafter let by the city authorities, and said contractor shall afterward put in bids for work upon the streets or other public work, the proper Committee having charge of the same, are hereby authorized to disregard and reject such bid.

The President decided that the resolutions were out of order, as some of the matters therein contained could only be reached by ordinance.

On motion of Councilman Congle, the resolutions were referred to the Committee on River Improvements.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Committee on Fire and Water were directed to make inquiry and ascertain if the building being erected on lot 4 in block 29 was being constructed in accordance with the ordinance defining fire limits.

The Auditor was instructed to draw a warrant for the payment of the first installment due on the steam fire engine for Multnomah Engine Co. No. 2, on the certificate of the Committee on Fire and Water and Chief Engineer.

The Committee on Streets and Public Property was directed to have street lamps erected at the corners of First and Market and First and Caruthers' streets.

A resolution was adopted declaring that the Common Council deem it expedient to improve that part of Jefferson street lying between Seventh and Thirteenth streets.

RETRENCHMENT AGAIN.

Councilman Story called attention to the fact that the Police Commissioners had reported that $3,296 in fees in State cases had been received by the Police Judge during the year 1872, and that the report had been referred to the Committee on Health and Police, and that said Committee had never reported thereon.

After a lengthy debate the motion prevailed to discharge the Committee on Health and Police from the further consideration of the matter, and that it be referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

On motion the Council adjourned.

WASHINGTON COUNTY COURT PROCEEDINGS.

The OREGONIAN'S regular correspondent at Hillsboro has laid us under obligations for the following Circuit Court proceedings:

J. E. Naylor vs Gleason; demurrer to complaint sustained.

Allen vs Allen; submitted and taken under advisement.

Doland vs Coley; judgment on finding of referee.

Dean vs Todd; demurrer overruled, and judgment setting one seventh of the land aside to defendant to be sold.

Purdin vs Purdin; divorce granted, and the two oldest children given to plaintiff and the youngest to defendant.

Butt & Co. vs A. L. Johnson; defendant allowed to perfect transcript.

State of Oregon vs Eugene Daurel; default entered, bond perfected, and warrant issued.

T. G. Todd vs J. O. Trullinger; default and judgment entered in vacation.

N. Wilcox vs John Linn; motion to divide land granted. W. Simmons appointed guardian. Demurrer to answer overruled, and judgment on division taken under advisement.

Davenport vs Owen; demurrer to answer; defendant allowed to amend by consent.

DRESS WELL.—The young man who desires his "make-up" complete should always select the place where the articles desired can be obtained. For a neat-fitting suit, made of the very finest materials, the public is directed to the house of Fishel & Roberts, an establishment which ranks with the leading houses on the coast. The stock is complete, the attention paid to customers, and the promptness with which orders are filled, at once commends this house to all.

The public mind has been somewhat agitated with the Modoc war, an occasional marine or railway disaster, and the dull times, and the prospect of buying clothing at a figure not large enough to clean a man to the bulwark. The place has been found where you can buy men and boy's clothing, or gentlemen's furnishing goods, at the very lowest prices. It is at Beck & Waldman's, corner of Front and Washington street, where a full assortment of men and boys' clothing, in the latest styles, can be selected from.

TO THE TAX-PAYERS OF THE CITY OF PORTLAND.

The Portland Water Company take this method of defining their position on the purchase of their works by the city of Portland:

On the 25th day of April, 1872, this company received a communication from Messrs. W. S. Ladd, J. B. Congle, C. H. Lewis and S. G. Reed, sub committee on water supply, appointed by the Mayor, asking the question:

"Will you dispose of your works to the city of Portland and if so, you will state price, terms, etc."

Our answer was, we would sell, and the price three hundred thousand dollars, to be paid as specified.

Again, the Committee on Fire and Water called on us at our office, saying they came in accordance with a resolution passed by the Common Council, on the 5th of February, to confer with us as to the purchase of our works by the city, to ascertain the price, and report to the Council at their earliest convenience. This company named the same price, viz: $300,000, that had been named to the former committee, two hundred and forty thousand dollars coin, and the city to assume the payment of sixty thousand dollars currency bonds, bearing seven per cent. interest, payable in July, 1880.

The committee made their report to the Common Council on the evening of February 13, 1873, from which report we copy the latter portion, viz:

We have been permitted to examine the income of the Water Company for the years 1870, 1871 and 1872, from rents of water, and from them we learn that the receipts would pay the interest on the bonds, the cost of operating the works, and have a considerable surplus, while the rents could be lowered one-fourth the present rates, and still pay rents sufficient to pay interest and cost of operating; thus giving to our citizens cheaper water, which is a matter greatly to be desired.

The increase of population in the city will increase the rents, and cheaper rates will increase the takers, without corresponding increase in the cost of operating, and in the no distant future your Committee believe that the rates can be reduced to one-half the present rates, and still leave a sufficient revenue to pay interest on the bonds and cost of operating, while a small sum can be annually accumulating to form a sinking fund for the redemption of the bonds.

Under the provisions of our charter nothing can be done in the way of incurring an indebtedness sufficient to purchase or build Water Works by the city until the proposition is submitted to the people at a general election, and by them approved.

Your Committee therefore recommend that the proposition of the Portland Water Company for the sale of their Works, rights, &c., &c., be submitted to the people at the coming June election, as provided by charter, for their approval or rejection.

All of which is respectfully submitted

(Signed) J. B. CONGLE,
J. C. MORELAND,
Committee on Fire and Water.

The Portland Water Company would respectfully state to the tax-payers the fact, that they have not urged the city to purchase our works. We have simply answered in good faith communications from committees appointed by the Mayor and Common Council of this city, as we supposed in good faith on the part of the city, and as a continuance of our willingness to give to the tax payers and the public any information they may desire, in order that they may vote intelligently at the coming June election for or against the purchase of our works by the city, we submit the following abstract from our books for two years, with the probable rates for one year:

1873—Rates as per books (May and June estimated)	45,066 48	2,190 47
1874 Same ratio of increase	50,000 00	4,984 57
Estimated rates for one year, ending June 30, 1874		50,000 00
Interest on $240,000 bonds at 8 per cent	19,200 00
Interest on $60,000 currency bonds, bearing 7 per cent., coin	3,780 00
Expenses allowing $1,000 more than present year	8,000 00	30,980 00
Surplus after paying interest and expenses		19,020 00
Reduction for 1874, $50,000—25 per cent. less than present rates		12,500 00
Surplus after reduction of rates		$6,520 00

The city can run the works, reduce the rates 25 per cent., and leave a balance in favor of the city of six thousand, five hundred and twenty dollars; or, in other words, consumers that now pay $2 per month, can be supplied for $1 50 per month, and others in proportion; and still the city will receive a revenue without taxing the people for a water supply.

Any further information desired in relation to the Company's works will be freely given on application at their office.

Respectfully,
THE PORTLAND WATER COMPANY.
H. D. GREEN, President.

COLEMANS EUCALYPTUS

Dr. J. S. Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus is a preparation combining all the valuable medicinal qualities of the Eucalyptus, which is cultivated in nearly every California garden for its medicinal utility, having become the household remedy for all diseases of the KIDNEYS, BLADDER and URINARY CANAL, and SEMINAL WEAKNESS. It seems to have a direct affinity for the GENITO-URINARY ORGANS and their surroundings, and cures them by its alterative, healing and balsamic properties more effectually than any other known remedy.

It is an invaluable remedy for all diseases of the mucous and serous membranes, such as BRONCHITIS, HACKING COUGH, NAUSEA DURING PREGNANCY, DYSPEPSIA, LEUCORRHŒA, etc.

This preparation is the result of Dr. Coleman's experiments with the medicinal properties of the tree in the U. S. Marine Hospital in San Francisco, in 1871 and 1872, where he had unusual facilities for testing the various methods of preparing the remedy, and its uses. It can be relied upon as certain to give the promised results, and hundreds of testimonials of its efficacy can be seen at his office, 405 Kearney Street, San Francisco.

COLEMAN'S DOUBLE EXTRACT OF EUCALYPTUS is a powerful, yet harmless, febrifuge, and is a special preparation for the treatment of the malarious fevers of our interior valleys, and is warranted to cure any case of FEVER AND AGUE treated with it according to directions, while the baneful results of the usual Quinine and arsenical remedies for those diseases are entirely avoided.

FOR PHYSICIANS, Coleman's Fluid Extract of Eucalyptus in 1 lb bottles.

Beware of imitations, and take none but COLEMAN'S. For sale everywhere, and by Hodge, Calef & Co., Wholesale Druggists, Portland, Sole Agents for Oregon.

THE ART GALLERY OF PORTLAND
(LATE "OPPOSITION LINK")
Cor. First and Taylor streets No 147

HAVING JUST RETURNED FROM SAN FRANCISCO with a new outfit to replace the one lost in the late fire, I have fitted up a fine suite of rooms, the most convenient in the State of Oregon—only one flight of stairs. The sky light is built on the same plan as the leading galleries of San Francisco together with all the improvements, including Revolving Shades, to produce fine, soft shades on the picture. I will introduce the FLOATING PHOTOGRAPHS, something new, and a beautiful style of pictures; also, Porcelain, Enameled Cards, and all the latest improvements of the art.
I would solicit my former patrons, and ladies and gentlemen of Portland and vicinity to call and visit my new rooms and pictures. O. DENNIE, Photographer,

How to Grow Old.

From the Springfield Republican.

It is difficult to evolve out of one's own interior consciousness the fact that he is growing old. The period of middle life, or one's prime, is very indefinite. Luckily it cannot be defined by figures, for one man is older at 40 than another at 60. The mild suggestion that we are getting older than we were, may be facetiously permitted, but the plain, unvarnished statement that we have actually got there, and are really an "elderly person," commonly comes home like a shock. It is a new sensation, making one feel queerly all over. It would be a nice game for several old parties to play at while the youngsters have adjourned for the German or blind man's buff, to tell all around when and how it was that they first discovered that they were old folks. We have a venerable and grizzly-looking friend somewhere about 60, who looks 10 years older than he is, but who is 15 or 20 years younger than the family Bible record signifies, who had been preaching all day in the pulpit of a stranger congregation with a venerable pastor Emeritus sitting behind him. When the social evening service came, our friend, whose every fiber tingles with perpetual youth, gay as a lark and frisky as a colt, and who never dreamed but that his feelings corresponded with the reality, entered most devoutly and reverently into the petitions of a worthy deacon for "the aged servant who had so long labored in the vineyard," ("blessed old man," our friend's heart whispered while his spectacles were growing misty,) "and who has so faithfully dispensed to us the word, to-day." The new sensation had arrived. It struck our venerated friend from crown to toe like a shower bath. Warm chills crept through him. "Can it be," he groaned, "is this the aged servant?"

It may lessen the shock to note the symptoms of growing old—we mean of beginning to grow old. A silver hair is nothing, nor a dozen, nor three dozen, for that may be hereditary—probably is—but, if you are an old fogy enough to use a quill pen, see if you can mend it satisfactorily without going to the window. Examine yourself candidly as to whether you spring over a buggy-wheel exactly as you did. Don't you hold your paper a little further off?

"Brother Coffin" said Daniel Webster to the spruce and would-be youthful Rhode Island dandy lawyer, as he was astutely straightening himself back at arm's length over a document. "You will have to get a pair of specs, or a pair of tongs." We say nothing about threading needles or new teeth, for we would not have our feminine readers suppose that we are giving them any impertinent advice on this subject. But, as a manly accomplishment, the knowing how to grow old is of great value, and, if we mistake not, somewhat rare. The beautiful old age that Cicero wrote of in his De Senectute is not beheld every day. The hoary head a crown of glory, is what we read of oftener than we see. There is an engraved portrait of Thorwaldsen which might well hang on every household wall, to show the royal type of a beautiful old age. The mellow Indian summer ripeness, sweetness and brightness of that serene and noble face is a benediction.

There was an old Hampden county man, who died in Oberlin, not long ago, who knew how to grow old. At four-score he was the youngest man in any company; so bright, genial, cheerful, hopeful, even radical, was he. He never croaked nor lamented. He enjoyed the present hour and expected good times coming. His eye lit up every other eye, and his speech rang with lofty cheer. His eyes were always set in front, and he never walked backward to see the past. The world was happier every day for John Keep. There is an old manufacturer, whom one may often meet on some train or other, hereabouts, who keeps moving and is always smiling, and walks off in a springy way as if the world used him well and he had nothing to complain of. There is an old divine, who, having resigned his pulpit gracefully and in timely season, retains his rightful leadership in society, and strikes out with steely ring live thoughts on living subjects; and another, who, though past the allotted period of man, camps out for his health in Canada woods in frost time, instead of hugging the chimney-corner. There is an old poet with white locks, who walks down Broadway to his daily post, translating Homer for his recreation, with a sturdy step that puts to shame many a languid youth with waxed mustache. There is an old financier, whose port is noble as a Roman centurion's, and whose head is level, who also understands the art of growing old. And there used to be old family doctors who rattled about in sulkies, and carried leathern portmanteaus with medicine enough to kill twenty men, but, up to the final bourne, were so bluff and hearty and hilarious, that their merry souls did good, despite their medicines.

We suppose that it is a good deal in the blood, and well-oxygenated blood. There was a fine old specimen of an Italian general, who kept his blood aglow and his old age hale, by keeping in the saddle. The better constitution, the better Christian. Muscular Christianity has a great advantage over that which isn't muscular. Chronic invalidism is apt to engender chronic peevishness, selfishness and glumness. The temptations of sickness may be greater than those of health. If, then, we suspect we are growing old, let us, by all means, keep a good digestion. It is the next thing to a good conscience, and greatly conducive of it. Keep moving. Don't live in slippers, as you would keep out of the "lean and slippered pantaloon." Don't retire from business. Have a chair in the office if you can't stand behind the counter. Greet the old customers and also the new. Let the places which have known you, know you still. Don't hide from the present age, nor carp at it as out of joint, nor burrow like an ancient woodchuck into the former times, nor tremble before the future. Thaw out toward the young. Don't sicken them by cramming down their throats too much unpalatable advice. They have got to learn something by their own mistakes, just as you did by yours. Prove Shakespeare's sonnet false:

> Crabbed age and youth
> Cannot live together.

The antagonism he describes:

> Youth like summer morn—
> Age like winter weather, is too often real, but it ought not so to be, and if one knows how to grow old, it will not be. Rather like the golden radiance of the long, still, rustling, quivering October days, when out of the brown husk bursts the yellow corn, should be the ripe experience of our life's harvest. Let us bring in our sheaves rejoicing, and let us die before the winter of our discontent sets in.

The Suspended Vienna Commissioners.

A New York correspondent of May 24th has this to say concerning the charges against the suspended Commissioners to the Vienna Exposition, and concurrent rumors.

Dr. Reppaner, one of the suspended Vienna Commissioners, came immediately home, and yesterday had his suspension set aside, as not even the remotest suspicion attached to him. The New York Times, referring to the case, says it is unpleasantly suggestive of the mode of doing business, that that gentleman, against whom no charges appear to have been at any time directed, should be compelled to travel seven thousand miles to protect his reputation from injury.

Notwithstanding General Van Buren's intemperate letters relative to his suspension, his friends maintain confidently his innocence. There is nothing on file at the State Department against him other than Minister Jay's telegrams. Sutherland, the New York Restaurant keeper, denies that General Van Buren ever made any corrupt proposition to him, as charged. He admits that somebody came to him in relation to opening a restaurant in the Exposition, who, instead of making a distinct proposition, expressed a significant wish that Sutherland would do the right thing. His description of the personal appearance of this visitor seems to point to Mayer as probably the man.

The President, while confessing his fears that some of the members of the Commission had accepted bribes, expresses unshaken faith in the integrity of General Van Buren. He explains his own action in the matter by saying that the Government was compelled to rely upon the representations of Minister Jay, who had requested the suspension of the entire Commission, but had afterward recommended that a number of them be reinstated. The President stated that he shall now take the matter into his own hands, and upon the arrival of the papers concerning the investigation into the Vienna matter, examine them personally, and endeavor to do justice to all concerned, impressed with a determination to reinstate Van Buren if he should be found innocent.

HUMOROUS.

There is time for all things. The time to leave is when a young lady asks you what sort of a day it is for walking.

Of all the marvellous works of the city, perhaps there is nothing the angels behold with such supreme astonishment as a proud man.

Gent (to party with pipe). "The gentleman opposite objects to your smoking." Party with pipe. "Yes, some people do, but I never take any notice of it."

The winds of adversity sweep over our souls, and scatter their fairest blossoms of hope. But the blossoms fall that we may bring forth much fruit—patience, faith, and love.

Col. Forney offered a town in Texas a free library, but, after consultation, the citizens decided that they would rather have twelve bags of buckshot and twelve shot-guns, if he didn't mind.

A Yorkshireman went to consult one of the most conscientious lawyers, and after stating his case said: "Now, sir, I know you are a lawyer, but I wish you would just please tell me the truth about this matter."

Explaining the meaning of the word phenomenon, a lecturer said: "A cow is not a phenomenon, nor is an apple tree, but when you see the cow go up the tree, tail foremost, to pick apples, that will be a phenomenon."

The most difficult book in the world to write is a book for a child, yet it is a book everybody thinks he can begin on, and some are in danger of being carried away by what might be called the "swill of the house of God."

Grandpapa. "Well, Willie, how are you getting on? I suppose you are a clever little man, by this time." Willie. "I should rather think I was. I can fight any boy or girl in the school—school-mistress—yes, and my ma, too!"

A religion of the bare intelligence makes everything disputable; of the feelings, everything vague, of the conscience, everything rigid. Intelligence in religion gives form to feeling, feeling gives warmth to conscience, and conscience gives a firm basis to both.

Barnum has offered Dr. Livingston a splendid salary to stay in Africa five years longer, and hunt wild animals for the former's great show. Phineas is to board and clothe the doctor, furnish him with ammunition and pay the express charges on all animals, dead or alive, shipped to this country.

A blushing maiden of 40 entered the town clerk's office at Wheeling, W. Va., a few days ago, and in a trembling voice asked for a license. When asked for the name and address of "the other party," she replied, "Faithful, and he lives with me." The clerk looked at her for a moment, and blushingly completed the filling in of the document, which he handed to the lady. He was astonished at her conduct; she gave one glance at the license, hoarsely whispered, "Monster!" and swept majestically out of the office. The clerk had presented her with a marriage license, when it was a dog license that she wanted.

Mr. Ruskin has a suggestive article on "The Nature and Authority of Miracle," in the current number of the Contemporary Review. He thinks it "contrary to modesty, whether in a religious or scientific point of view, to regard anything as miraculous. 'I know so little,'" he says, "and this little I know is so inexplicable, that I dare not say anything is wonderful because it is strange to me, and not wonderful because it is familiar." "If a second Joshua to-morrow commanded the sun to stand still, and it obeyed him, and he, therefore, claimed credit as a miracle-worker, I am afraid that I should answer: 'What! a miracle that the sun stands still? Not at all. I was always expecting it would. The only wonder to me is its going on.'"

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, May 28, 1873.

Gold in New York to-day, 115¾.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 85 buying; 86 selling.

Gold bars are quotable at 800 fine.

Wheat in Liverpool—Average California, 12s 3d@12s 4d, club, 12s 6d.

In conversation with business men in our city we find varied views are entertained by them as to the present condition and future prospects of the financial affairs on this coast, and in our State and city. These views in many instances conflict with each other. There are found very reliable and far-sighted men generally who denounce without hesitancy all laws attempting to govern or control the rate of interest which money shall bear, and advocate the repeal of all existing statutes on the subject, expressing themselves as firm believers in the doctrine that men should be allowed to hire money for its use as they are other property for its use, paying such sums as are contracted for. There are others who bear equally good reputations for financial ability and business discernment who strenuously oppose the above theory, on the ground of public policy, and maintain the correctness of the limiting law as a safeguard around the business community, and as a means of preventing brokers, speculators and "money sharps" from causing great financial disturbances, as have from time to time occurred elsewhere. The latter reasoning seems to us the sounder, and its results certainly indicate that it is the safer to follow. During the past year in the United States financial pressure has been the rule, and the scarcity has not been confined to those States on whose statute books were laws to punish usury. On the contrary, it has been felt everywhere, and we challenge the opponents of a usury law to a comparison of the result, as shown by the bankruptcies, failures, etc., in those States where such laws exist and those where they do not. In that comparison it will be seen that the result very strongly favors the law.

In regard to our present and prospective condition in financial affairs, the prevailing opinion seems to be that the crisis has been past, and that the tendency towards a relaxation, which has heretofore been noted, is of a permanent character; and that though some slight stringency may be general next fall, the summer will witness a very fair amount of ease. At present, the banks can readily place their surplus at current rates, but street loans are not quite so freely made—or at least outside lenders do not have the matter so entirely under their control.

The Wool Market.

Our late advices from the Eastern cities indicate that prices have touched bottom, but the market has been so fluctuating for some months past that confidence is not yet fully restored. An exchange of late date from New York says "Manufacturers are still overloaded with woolens, for which there is as yet no apparent outlet, and any advance in prices will force many of them, who have been free purchasers for some weeks past to withdraw from the market for the present. Now appears to be a favorable time to work off old stocks before new wool makes its appearance in any quantity, and supplies in the interior should be forwarded as fast as possible. The great trouble with our wool market the past year has been the fact that holders have not been willing to meet the market at the current rates for the time being. There has scarcely been a lot of wool forwarded from the West and California, under limits, but has been sold later in the season at a considerable loss. If an advance of 1@2c ₩ lb takes place in an Eastern market, Western holders are too apt to double up and exact an advance of 2@3c ₩ lb, and in this way force more orders at road for wool than the wants of the market demand. Supplies in London are about as near manufacturers as supplies in the West, and the business is so systematized by duplicate samples, that any grade of wool offering in the English market can now be bought, by the aid of the telegraph, and placed here in a very short time. While we look, therefore, for a firm market, we must not become too excited on account of the favorable change that has taken place, especially while so many depressing influences still exist."

FIRST

NATIONAL BANK OF PORTLAND,

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

THIS BANK HAS ESTABLISHED IN CONNECTION with the general Banking business a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT, and will allow interest on Coin Deposits made in accordance with the conditions adopted by the Association.

In establishing a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT this Banking Association has in view the benefits to accrue to a class of persons having small sums to loan, by providing a safe place of deposit, ample security and fair rate of interest, as well as to aggregate and bring into use idle capital.

For the safety of deposits in this Bank are pledged its entire capital and resources, and also the personal liability of its Directors and Stockholders, as provided by Section 12 of the National Currency Act, approved June 3, 1864, a greater security than that given by ordinary Savings Banks. Printed copies of the conditions upon which deposits are received may be had upon application at the Bank.

One City Assessor—each for the term of two years.

One member of the Common Council, in the first, second and third wards, respectively, each for the term of three years.

The Common Council, in pursuance of section 132 of the act to incorporate the city of Portland, as amended by the Act approved October 21st, 1870, contemplate incurring an indebtedness of four hundred thousand dollars for the purpose of providing and erecting water works whereby to supply a constant and sufficient supply of good and wholesome water at reasonable rates; and to this end it is contemplated by said Common Council to purchase all and singular the water works, rights, reservoirs, franchises, privileges and property, both real and personal, now owned, possessed or claimed by the Portland Water Company, situate and being in Multnomah county, Oregon, for the sum of two hundred and forty thousand dollars gold coin, or gold bonds of the city, and the redemption and payment by the city of sixty thousand dollars of currency bonds heretofore issued by said company, payable at the city of New York in the year 1880, with interest payable semi-annually in currency at the rate of seven per cent. per annum. And from time to time, as the Common Council may direct, to apply the remainder of said four hundred thousand dollars, after making provision for the payments above specified, in laying down additional and larger water mains, and otherwise enlarging and improving the fixtures and capacity of said water works, for extinguishing and preventing fires, and for supplying the city and the inhabitants thereof with good and wholesome water, and in sufficient quantity.

The money for the purposes above named to be procured by the sale of "Portland Water Bonds," for an amount not exceeding four hundred thousand dollars, payable in U. S. gold coin in not less than twenty nor more than thirty years from the date thereof, with interest payable semi-annually, at not to exceed ten per cent per annum, as more fully set forth and provided by Ordinance No. 1313, entitled "an ordinance submitting to the voters of the city of Portland the question of incurring an indebtedness to provide and erect water works for said city, whereby said city and the inhabitants thereof may be supplied with good and wholesome water, and for the construction, improvement and management of the same, in case a majority of said votes shall be given in favor of incurring said indebtedness;" provided, the legal voters of said city shall authorize such indebtedness to be incurred.

At said election the voters of the city will vote whether the Council may or may not incur said indebtedness for said purposes and objects, by writing or printing upon the ballot deposited by such voter, if in favor thereof the words "FOR INDEBTEDNESS," and if opposed thereto the words "AGAINST INDEBTEDNESS."

The places designated in each ward for holding the election, and the judges and clerks appointed to conduct the same, are as follows:

First Ward—At Armory Hall, Stark street. Judges, George H. Flanders, R. R. Thompson and D. W. Burnside. Clerks, E. F. Allright and A. C. Ripley.

Second Ward—No. 1 Engine House, [illegible] street. Judges, J. R. Woodard, Jacob Mayer and A. H. M[illegible]. Clerks, A. E. Borthwick and B. G. Whitehouse.

Third Ward—At [illegible] stable, corner First and Market streets. Judges, F. Harbaugh, John Reese and A. G. Hammond. Clerks, J. A. Waters and Andrew Hill.

Said election will commence at 9 o'clock A. M. and will continue until 6 o'clock of the said day without closing the polls.

By order of the Common Council.

W. F. CALDWELL,
Auditor and Clerk.

DR. C. G. GLASS.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies and see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his special study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the faces, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

[illegible]

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the [illegible] [illegible] upon [illegible] way to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is [illegible], and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and [illegible] cure, or [illegible].

[illegible]

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, [illegible] [illegible] length of time the disease has continued, and [illegible] medicines promptly forwarded, [illegible] and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Post Office, or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All [illegible] confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with bogus diplomas, dupe the unwary. Some of the so-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the city and county newspapers of San Francisco and [illegible] and [illegible] and became too lazy to work at their trades [illegible] [illegible], intelligence [illegible], etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for as advertising physicians, [illegible] out of ten are bogus, [illegible] safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, diplomas, printed patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will [illegible] who may call at his office of his ability to [illegible] he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearny street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO SEND BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultation FREE.

To Contractors.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE UNDERsigned, appointed Superintendent by the County Court of Clackamas county, Oregon, will let a contract for the construction of a BRIDGE ACROSS THE CLACKAMAS RIVER, on the road leading from Oregon City to Portland. Such contract will be let to the lowest responsible bidder, at public outcry, at the Court House door, on MONDAY, 2d, DAY OF JUNE A. D. 1873, at the hour of 1 o'clock, P. M., subject to the right of the County Court of said county to reject such bid, if the same should exceed the sum which the Court is willing to appropriate toward the construction thereof.

Said Bridge will be 200 feet long if built according to Smith's Patent Truss, with approaches, [illegible] 140 feet each, with aprons, if built according to the plans of the old Cason bridge, at the same point. Bids will be received according to each plan.

Particular plans and specifications for each proposed style may be seen upon application to me after this date and the successful bidder may expect to give bonds for the due execution of his contract.

Dated Oregon City, Oregon, May 8, 1873.
